...deliciously dark and delightfully dreamy. --The Book Sniffer, January 2016

Britta Teckentrup is a gifted illustrator-writer, and this is a wonderful, poetic and stylish book about sleep and the strange but wonderful voyages we all take every night into the realm of dream. --BookTrust, April 2016

This gorgeous bedtime story is the perfect wind-down at the end of the day that will send children off into a blissful sleep. --MyLittleStyleFile, March 2016 Présentation de l'éditeur

A young girl falls asleep and travels in her dreams through the sky, down to the ocean's depths and into a jungle. She is accompanied by a lion friend, who eases her fears, gives her confidence and helps her explore the world around her. Along the way she meets whales, jellyfish, grizzly bears and wolves. Then it is time for the moon balloon to take the girl home to her bed, where she awakes, snuggled safely next to the lion, who returns to being a stuffed toy. Award-winning children's illustrator Britta Teckentrup's collage-like artwork creates a magical world of captivating colours, classic shapes and softly detailed textures. The gently told story reassures children that they are never alone, even in their dreams. Exquisitely produced, this book is certain to become a bedtime favourite for children and their parents. Biographie de l'auteur
